

MRS. STILLMAN IN NEW MOVE

Report Is She Seeks Guardian for Son Alexander—Attorney Silent

CHIEF COUNSEL AT SURROGATE'S COURT

[Special Dispatch to The Herald]
 NEW YORK, Oct. 11—John F. Brennan, chief of the attorneys retained by Mrs. Anne Urquhart Stillman to fight the divorce and legitimacy action brought against her and baby Guy Stillman by James A. Stillman, appeared at the surrogate's court today. It had been reported that the Yonkers lawyer's visit to the court would be to file an application for the appointment of a general guardian for Alexander Stillman, 10 years old.

Mr. Brennan tonight denied at his home that he had obtained any papers at the court, but did not deny that Mrs. Stillman had decided to seek appointment of a guardian for Alexander Stillman and that Mrs. Stillman might seek the guardianship herself. Attorneys for Mr. Stillman said they were surprised to hear of the guardianship move.

Objection Means Hearing
 In the event of Mr. Stillman objecting to his wife's appointment as guardian notice of opposition would be served on Surrogate Cochran and he would then set a date for hearing in open court. Both Mrs. Stillman and Mr. Stillman would be required to appear.

Plans for the reopening of the defense at the Oct. 25 hearing before Judge Gleason will be started at a conference to be held within a few days at the office of Mr. Brennan in Yonkers.

According to one informant with the case, a number of new witnesses have been obtained during the summer by investigators who have been active in Canada. It was declared that persons had been interviewed at Grand Ave. and Grand Mere and at Three Rivers, all points in Quebec, who are counted on to give evidence to offset the "mother and keyhole" witness which Mr. Stillman brought down from Canada to testify at the earlier hearings.

Another thing that will be discussed at the defense conference, it was said, would be the appointment of a commissioner to go to Canada and take the new evidence. It was said that the defense probably would decide on this method of getting the evidence into the record instead of going to the expense and trouble of bringing the witnesses down to the Poughkeepsie hearings.

TO CANVASS EMPLOYERS FOR JOBS FOR JOBLESS
 Mayor Peter's Committee to Begin Activities at Once
 Members of the executive committee of Mayor Peter's unemployment committee agreed at a meeting yesterday to begin at once a personal canvass of Boston employers in an effort to find places for the unemployed.

By letters and interviews in person and over the telephone, the members will communicate with all the establishments where labor is employed to any extent to ascertain how many persons can be employed at once, the type of positions and other similar information. The canvass will be under the direction of Charles A. Andrews, member of the committee, who also is a member of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts.

Simon Hecht, chairman of the overseers of public welfare, who also is a member of the committee, wrote to the civil service commission a request to use every possible effort to aid the unemployed.

The committee voted not to have a municipal registration of the unemployed, but to advise war veterans seeking employment to register with the American Legion and all others to register with the state employment officials.

BURGENLAND PARLEY IS OPENED IN VENICE

AGREES TO END TAX ON ALL CARRIERS

over the tax bill between Senators Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and Watson, Republican, Indiana.

"There is no real, fundamental objection to a sales tax," said Senator Smoot, declaring that this system is "bound to come." "It is a 'pay-as-you-go' proposition and for that reason favored by manufacturers, though they may pay more in taxes than under an income and excess profits system. But they will know to a certainty just what the tax is; they will pay it out of current receipts. It can be immediately charged into costs as a definite amount and without the inflation which has existed under the excess profits tax, and all taxes are charged into costs just as rent, wages, materials purchased, interest and all other expenses.

"Every one to whom it applied would be able to ascertain the amount of his liability at a glance, and the process of working out a tax return would lose all its terrors. It will give the treasury department a constant inflow of revenue during monthly periods current expenses can be met out of current receipts to that extent. It amounts to an absolute certainty of business instead of trying to compel business to adjust itself to taxes."

Replying to arguments that the proposed tax is impossible of administration, Senator Smoot said this was not a fact; that manufacturers' taxes were being collected under the present tax law and that he would be able to collect in the same manner under his proposal. He gave details of the manner in which the 5 per cent. tax is now collected on automobile tires, tubes, parts and accessories. He also read a letter from Assistant Internal Revenue Commissioner Smith, who stated that, in his opinion, the Smoot "manufacturers' sales tax" would be no more difficult of administration than the sales taxes imposed by the 1917 and 1918 laws.

HARRISON STIRS ROW IN SENATE

Watson Charges Democrats Are Filibustering for Political Purposes

PROPOSES TO START REPUBLICAN BLOC

[Special Dispatch to The Herald]
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—Following a charge by Senator Harrison of Mississippi that the Republican "old guard" or "reactionaries" as he described them, had stacked the finance committee and had originally reported out a tax bill that was representative, he charged, of reactionary sentiment, Senator Watson of Indiana, a member of the committee, asserted that the Democrats were filibustering not only against the tax but also against the refunding, the railroad and other important administration measures.

It was a lively hour while it lasted and Vice-President Coolidge had to rap for order several times in order to suppress the laughter in the crowded galleries.

Proposes "Lodge Bloc"
 Senator Watson, who has taken a position as one of the administration spokesmen, declared that he was ready to do his part in creating a new "bloc."

"A Republican senatorial bloc," he called it, which will rally around Senator Lodge, the majority leader, and "sit here day and night if necessary to enable the majority to legislate."

"When this session of Congress started," said Senator Harrison, "there was much talk on the part of so-called progressives that they would reform certain committees so that they could obtain certain legislation. But under the wand of some mysterious persons you harmonized your differences and the looked-for opposition to that committee did not arise."

Senator Harrison, calling attention to the activities of Senator Lodge in the present situation, said that it was a peculiarly strange picture to see the Republican leader join the agricultural bloc and help submerge the old guard.

"I suppose," added Senator Harrison, "the senator from Massachusetts believes that it is best to follow that old adage 'if you see they are going to beat you, why join them.' So he joined them and engaged in the conspiracy."

Pledges to "Interests"
 "The senator from Utah, Mr. Smoot," continued Senator Harrison, "knows that there were certain promises made in the last campaign to the interests who have been concerned in this question as to how much taxes they were to pay and that those interests were promised certain things in their tax laws."

"That crowd came down here and had a meeting on the 25th of May. In that conference were J. Pierpont Morgan, Charles A. Sabin, C. E. Mitchell of the National City Bank, Paul Warburg, Benjamin Strong of the Federal Reserve, and J. P. McElwain of Pittsburgh and Secretary Mellon, the second largest income tax payer in the country. They held their conference at the White House with the President, who was nominated at Chicago by the same reactionary bunch, that wrote this bill and brought it out to us."

The moment Senator Harrison concluded, Senator Watson was on his feet. "There is," he exclaimed, "a well defined movement here to unconstitutionally filibuster on this bill and on the railroad funding bill and the foreign debt bill, in order to throw the protective tariff measure over into the next year to just and nearly to the approaching campaign as it is possible."

Charges Political Play

"I know that these political speeches are going to be made in the Senate day after day and week after week for that express purpose and with that end in view. I have no sympathy with that program."

"I propose for one to promise our leader, Senator Lodge, to rally enough senators around him to sit here by day and by night if necessary to enable the majority to legislate on the propositions which we have promised the people we will legislate upon."

"The main charge of the senator from Mississippi is that we on the Republican side, have surrendered to a progressive agricultural bloc. We talk about agricultural blocs and manufacturing blocs and mining blocs. What I want is the Republican bloc in the United States Senate."

"When they organize it, I shall stay with it, because while it may be wrong in some instances, it is almost universally right and it is more nearly right all the time than the Democratic party ever is."

Passing of sentence was deferred by Judge Wolfe. This action in the New Britain inquiry followed a conference between the accused and State Atty. Alcorn.

Sons Not Put to Plea

Richardson's two sons, Wallace and Andrew F., were brought into court with their father and Winkle, but were not put to plea. The specific charge against the suspended detective chief was receiving and concealing an automobile which was stolen from Theodore Trawley of New York, on May 9, 1920. When the charge was read, Richardson responded "guilty to my personal knowledge."

Richardson and his two sons and Winkle were arrested by the state police on Sept. 29 as a result of the investigation into the supposed murder of Louis Winkle in New Britain. It is understood that McAuliffe will be put to plea tomorrow and that there is a possibility of his trial starting next week.
